DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jaeger'502 in view of Levy et al. (US 4,332,244).

The Jaeger reference comprises a ventilation system for experimental animals (see Fig. 1) comprising an induction chamber containing a first compartment 10 with a means for the supply and removal of a gaseous substance (see the coaxial arrangement of elements 230 and 165) and a second compartment 5 connected to an inlet 230, wherein the gaseous passes into the second compartment and thence to the inlet (i.e. the escaping gaseous substance coaxially surrounds the inlet and therefore meets the limitation of passing anesthetic to the inlet).

In regard to claim 10, wherein the joining of the first compartment to the second compartment meets the limitation of selective closing of the passage defined by element 165.

In regard to claim 11, wherein the inlet 165 is located in the upper or top right portion of the second compartment and a ventilation hole 34 is located in a lower region thereof for receiving intake air from the nebulizer 35.

However, the Jaeger reference fails to explicitly disclose use of the ventilation system with an anesthetic substance. Attention is further directed to the Levy et al. reference which discloses another ventilation system for experimental animals which utilizes an anesthetic substance in order to facilitate experimental tests and procedures on the experimental animals. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the Jaeger device to accommodate an anesthetic (if not already) as taught by Levy et al. in order to allow experimental animals to be anesthetized to facilitate experimental tests and procedures (i.e. including surgical procedures) to be done on the experimental animals.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 9-11 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
